WORKPLACE GIVING: GUIDE FOR EMPLOYEES

What is Workplace Giving?

Workplace Giving is a program that enables employees to donate a portion of their pay directly to charity.

By choosing to support United Way Australia through Workplace Giving, you will be giving thousands of children and young people in disadvantaged communities across Australia the chance to reach their full potential.

What are the benefits of Workplace Giving?

Put simply, it's the easiest and most cost-effective way of making regular donations to United Way Australia.

The program enables you to donate via automated, pre-tax payroll deductions - thereby providing you with an instant tax deduction. And with your donations reducing your taxable income, you'll benefit every pay – along with the children and communities your donations are helping.

How do I start?

All Australian payroll systems can facilitate Workplace Giving donations, so starting should be as simple as nominating United Way Australia as your charity of choice to your payroll department. They may also have a Workplace Giving form for you to complete and return to them.

If your payroll team needs any assistance setting up Workplace Giving, they can contact us on info@unitedway.com.au.

Our banking details are below. Once your payroll team has these, you should be ready to begin donating.
